

Briar Cliff University

evening/weekend

major in Accounting for working adults

The evening/weekend accounting major is designed to prepare working adults for careers as professional accountants in public, private, governmental and not-for-profit organizations. The program builds on a foundation of liberal arts courses and provides the educational background to become a Certified Public Accountant or to attain other appropriate professional certification. This design seeks to insure that the student attains a broad perspective which is a requisite to success both as a professional accountant and as a top-level financial or business executive.

The evening/weekend format allows for an individualized plan of study. The program enjoys a history of superior quality as evidenced by its graduates. The evening/weekend Accounting Degree Program is flexible allowing you to set your own pace. The special tuition rate and financial aid make the program affordable for working adults.
