Briar Cliff University takes pride in the important and active role of music in the University’s academic programs and campus life. With an annual schedule of more than thirty public presentations and an accomplished artist faculty whose collective teaching experience exceeds 100 years, Briar Cliff’s Music Department exemplifies the unity of musicianship and educational practice needed for success in the real world. Graduates from Briar Cliff’s Music Department make significant contributions in their respective communities: they are teachers and administrators in private and public schools and institutions of higher education; they own and operate private studios; they work as professional concert artists, church musicians, and directors of community theatres; and they are graduate students at major research universities.

Briar Cliff University music scholarships recognize and encourage talented student musicians who are looking for a liberal arts education. The BCU Department of Music awards extensive annually renewable scholarships based upon talent and musical leadership. Regardless of major, students can literally sing for their scholarships at Briar Cliff.

If you have an interest in BCU’s music program, feel free to contact Dr. Sean Burton directly by phone at 712.279.5548 or email sean.burton@briarcliff.edu. Your musical future at Briar Cliff University will be filled with inspiration and impact.

Briar Cliff University Choral Music is supported, in part, by a grant from The Gilchrist Foundation.
